Dublin incorporation opposed

LAFCO states case for 'One West Valley City'

DUBLIN - "Overriding one - city considerations" for the western end of the Valley make any chances of incorporation for Dublin remote, LAFCO's executive director told a Valley - wide audience at yesterday's Dublin Chamber of Commerce luncheon.

A staff report prepared in March for the Alameda County Local Agency Formation Commission , and personally presented to Valley officials by LAFCO executive director Roland Mayne at the luncheon, also recommends creation of a Pleasanton sphere ox influence to include the unincorporated area of Dublin.

While the report, which will be discussed at the May 29 commission meeting, makes no mention of a "one - city Valley" (including Livermore), Mayne noted "there are many valley people in favor of that one city."

Although he doesn't "see the question of a one - city Valley in the immediate future," should the question arise, as Mayne hinted it might, "staff will tackle the appropriate report."

Unlike county supervisors who are limited to four changes per year in the general plan, LAFCO's spheres of influence /uube amended withou striction

Since "the thought of one - city in the Valley is too far forward," according to Mayne, the "basic question faced by LAFCO is should there be one or two cities in this end of the Valley."

The problems confronting the Valley are the treatment and disposal of sewage and air pollution, "which has been restricting your outside funding."

The one - city recommendation is founded on three premises, according to the report: g -, √ "The formation of a new political entity is a less desirable alternative than annexation.

√ "It is difficult to determine . . . whether Dublin has by itself sufficient revenue base to support being incorporated.

√ ". . . its small size would tend to make provision of services inefficient, unnecessarily duplicative, and unnecessarily expensive."

"Why," queried Pleasanton's Jim Trimingham, "is this a sphere of influence for Pleasanton?"

"I hate to say its for Pleasanton," Mayne responded, " because VCSD (Valley Community Services District) has as much interest in the case as Pleasanton. But Pleasanton is 'the city,' so it gets the name of the sphere."

It's fundamental to LAFCO's scope that "urban land should be municipal — that is, in a city," Mayne said .

B LAFCO'S POWERS

According to Mayne, the commission has the "power to approve or disapprove motions for incorporation or annexation," and as such, another attempt to incorporate Dublin as a separate city must gain "the permission of LAFCO," and Dublin "would have to overcome the already stated position of the staff report."

+pin for incorporation was denied and turned into a ballot measure on the annexation of Dublin by Pleasanton.

In that earlier measure, 56 percent in Pleasanton voted in favor of annexation of Dublin, while Dublin defeated the measure with a 79 percent "no" vote. Overall, the measure was defeated by 64 percent of the 3917 ballots cast.

Since the population of the areas has more than doubled from 23,000 to 52,000 since then, the report notes a "potential for a different election outcome would appear possible".

The question of which majority would rule — Dublin, Pleasanton or the entire sphere of influence — is still unanswered, although Mayne . suggested it would be the majority of the entire sphere.

Should Dublin petition for incorporation LAFCO may deny that petition and move for an annexation ballot measure.

The "one - city" concept would result in a population of 52,000 residing in some 31 square miles from the Alameda - Contra Costa County lines to the undeveloped lands south of Pleasanton, and from Foothill Road to Livermore's sphere .

The LAFCO report insists, however, that service districts constitute duplicate, unncessarily expensive agencies whose services should be incorporated in one municipal body.

Fahey wants another look by COVA at one city plans

Valley Community Services District Director Richard Fahey would like the Congress of Valley Agencies (COVA) to re-examine the moribund concept of a one-city valley.

Fahey brought up the idea at Tuesday night's VCSD board meeting in Dublin and his fellow directors agreed the idea is worth looking into. Combining Livermore, Pleasanton and Dublin into one municipality is an idea that has surfaced periodically over the past 20 years, with its last consideration coming from the now-defunct Valley Planning Commission in the early 1970's.

Fahey's move came despite VCSD's unanimous rejection of the Alameda County Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFCO) plan to unite Pleasanton and VCSD's service area — minus San Ramon — into one agency.

The board voted to send VCSD attorney Peggy McElligott's uncomplimentary nine page comment on the LAFCO decision to LAFCO along with a cover letter stating that VCSD might be willing to consider the idea if the points raised by McElligott were dealt with.

McElligott's main point revolved around the Contra Costa County portion of VCSD-San Ramon — which wuld be cut adrift by the LAFCO proposal. VCSD would still have to exist to service that area unless some complex legislative manuevering was completed in Sacramento.

VCSD also registered disapproval with the United States Geological Survey (USGS), which wants VCSD to participate in a study to determine the effects of disposing of effluent on land.

Presently both Pleasanton and Livermore use effluent to irrigate patches of land, and the USGS wants to determine if ground water is being contaminated as a result.

Therefore, USGS wants Zone 7 of the Flood Control and Water Conservation District to help pay for the drilling of wells necessary to find out if the ground water is being affected. VCSD, which disposes no effluent on land, would be asked to help pay for the digging of the wells.

VCSD Director Chuck Ladner commented that if VCSD spent any funds on the project, "we're throwing money down a rathole."

Echoing his sentiments, the board "respectfully declined to participate" until further information was available.

Citizens' Advisory Commission (CAC) Chairman Joe Covello asked the board to have staff set up a method for allocating the use of fields, as Covello had received complaints about the present system in his attempts to get the May 27 parks tax increase passed.

He reported that the Dublin Little League, which receives free water from VCSD as well as use of the fields, is declining to cooperate at all to get the tax increase passed.

Ladner brought up the recent Sierra Club move to limit the number of lanes on Interstate 580 and reiterated his stand for an eight lane freeway. The board however voted 3-2 in favor of the six lane concept.

San Ramon Valley school officials believe bond issue will be approved

By JOHN KEARNS
Times Staff Writer

Administrators at the San Ramon Valley School District are optimistic that a May 27 school bond election will pass.

District Business Manager Orrin Bachelor says that the committee promoting the passage of the $7.5 million bond election is well organized.

"They're hard - working people and have a game plan laid out," Bachelor said.

"It's hard to tell if it's only an air of optimism here but there's good reason for optimism.

"We lost two elections in the neighborhood of $11 million with a 60 per cent yes vote.

"Now we're looking at a $7.5 million election with only a 50 per cent vote needed to pass."

The district wants voters to approve a total construction package of $7.9 million by passing the bond election.

The money would be used to build South Intermediate School, rebuild San Ramon Valley High School and add to California High School.

The total cost of the construction based on January 1975 figures is $6.5 million.

With inflation rising at an estimated 1.5 per cent per month the cost at time of construction would be about $7.9 million.

All other costs, including the interest on the bonds, would total $9.6 million over 23 years.

Voters will be asked to pass a maximum tax rate increase of 39 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

This means that the owner of a $40,000 house could expect to pay a maximum of $39 more in taxes to the district per year.

The district says that the maximum tax rate won't be reached and that the actual rate probably won't go above 32 cents.

That would make the $40,000 homeowner's total tax go up by $32 per year.

Those tax rates would double for the owner of an $80,000 house and, at the 39-cent figure, would increase taxes on a $60,000 house by $58.50 per year.

The May election offers lease - purchase bonds to voters, not general obligation bonds.

The lease purchase bonds can be issued only for specific jobs on specific sites.

General obligation bonds can be used in any manner that the school district decides to use them.

The limitation inherent in the lease purchase bonds won't be a problem for the district, Bachelor said.

"As long as we're planning adequately that limitation won't affect us," he said.

The administration is giving the committee supporting the election's passage information.

Administrators, by law, can't take official stands in school elections.

The committee asking voters to pass the election is led by Syma Hasseltine.

The committee and the school district's administrators are optimistic that the election will pass, Bachelor said.

Pleasanton trustees balk at wage package

PLEASANTON - Pleasanton Elementary School District board members issued their response to a district teachers' salary and benefits proposal Wednesday night.

On the proposal by teachers to abolish teacher-vice principal positions, the board declared that the teachers' organization is not entitled under the Education code to negotiate policies directly affecting management personnel.

The board also said it cannot automatically provide cost of living increases in salaries, noting the estimated income for the district under state law is about 4.4 per cent.

The California School Employes Association chapter presented its salary and benefit proposal, asking an "adequate" cost of living raise and to renew negotiations regarding fringe benefits that were submitted and asked for last year.

"Our fringe benefits are lacking in comparison to the outside labor market and surrounding districts," said Erick Jensen, chairman of the classified salary committee.

In other business, certificates of recognition were presented by the board to Bev Jotten. Alisal PTA; Carol Rogers, Pleasanton PTA; Ren Lovell, Valley View; Beverly Redgewicke, Harvest Park; Barbara Smyth, Vintage Hills; Mary Hobbs, Walnut Grove. and Jerry Miller, Fairlands.

Dr. David Carlisle, director of research and development, further outlined Option A-1 in relation to the school attendance boundaries problem.

Carlisle's figuring indicates that three schools, Walnut Grove, Vintage Hills and Fairlands, will be right at the maximum capacity in 1976.

If implemented for this coming fall, A-1 would necessitate moving six relocatables at a cost of $1,500 each. This would create 6-8 grade structures at Harvest Park and Pleasanton.

Under adjusted total enrollments, four schools will be slightly over ideal capacities---Fairlands, Harvest Park, Valley View and Walnut Grove.

Boisterous crowd asks "good faith" talks

Park strikers lose bid to oust county negotiator

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — For the first time since the strife-torn 1960's, the Alameda County Board of Supervisors was forced to adjourn its meeting to a conference room to escape a raucous crowd Tuesday night.

More than 125 angry East Bay Regional Park District strikers stormed the supervisors' evening meeting to demand the county's Industrial Relations director be removed from their strike talks.

Chairman Fred Cooper repeatedly attempted to gavel the unruly crowd to silence — in accordance with a board rule that allows no public demonstrations — but, after recessing the meeting once, the board and press moved into an adjoining conference room.

After less than 10 minutes in those smaller quarters, the board reached a compromise with Richard Groulx, the strikers' spokesman and executive secretary of the Alameda County Central Labor Council, and the group returned to the meeting room.

That compromise included a public vote on the immediate removal of James Marshall, Industrial Relations director, from the EBRPD strike talks — which failed — and the scheduling of a special closed meeting for Wednesday night to discuss the problem.

Cooper and Supervisor Tom Bates (or Charles Santana), along with Marshall, EBRPD Board Chairman Howard Cogswell and the district's Assistant General Manager Jerry Kent agreed to meet with five labor representatives at 7 p.m. Wednesday .

The strikers, many of whom were wearing "I am for good management" buttons, voiced the belief that Marshall's involment in their five-week strike is hindering a settlement.

The major issue in the walk-out is not money but who should be considered labor and who should be considered management.

The session got off to an inauspicious start when Groulx, after being warned by Cooper about the "no applause" rule, said, "I have an odd feeling about freedom." Turning to the packed chambers, he added, "If you want to clap, go ahead and clap. I'm going to speak sooner or later anyway."

Supervisor Joseph Bort left the meeting at that point, saying, "As far as I'm concerned, you can speak later."

"We are here," Groulx told the board, "no longer to request, but to demand that you call off your dogs. The union has made a very serious attempt," he added, and called Marshall a "willing stooge" of the anti-strike forces, who is "out playing games with a small local union."

Marshall is paid $30,648 a year for his work for Alameda County and the county leases his services to the EBRPD for $7,000 a year.

Following a burst of applause, Cooper said, "One more outburst like that and the board will meet with the press in the other room."

Groulx then questioned Cooper's objectivity in what he termed was a "little civil war." That was also followed by an outburst of applause and the meeting was recessed for five minutes.

Everyone but Bort returned to the meeting. Then, Art Carter, secretary-treasurer of the Contra Costa County Central Labor Council, told the board Marshall was a "gunslinger" who was prolonging a two-county strike. "Marshall is the primary factor in the continuance of that strike that is denying sustenance to 185 families. The strike could be solved in a short time without him," he added.

"Marshall has the arrogance to present the same proposals over and over again," Carter said. "With his track record, I suggest you may have trouble" with negotiations with county workers.

Following another outburst, Cooper again asked the crowd to refrain from applause.

Visibly seething with emotion, Tim Gordon, one of the strikers, told the board, "We haven't been out for five weeks for our health. We're pleading with you to get that man out of there. It is outrageous. When the election comes up, you're going to hear from us," he promised, which brought on another outburst.

At that point, Cooper moved the meeting to the adjoining conference room. Groulx and the press were allowed in under Section 54957.9 of the California Government Code, which governs "disorderly conduct" in public meetings.

After agreeing to take a public vote on Marshall's removal and agreeing to schedule Wednesday's meeting, officials and press returned to the chambers.

The vote to keep Marshall was approved by a 4-1 margin, although Cooper and Supervisor Charles Santana said they would "reconsider" if the EBRPD officials were "uncooperative" about attending Wednesday's session.

Cooper said he supported the motion because he believes "public unions should have the same rights and obligations as private unions and should be able to choose who they negotiate with."

Bort also supported the motion because, he said, "I feel it is inappropriate for us to interfere with that operation."

"I'll support this motion," added Santana, "but (EBRPD Director Richard) Trudeau or Cogswell better be there tomorrow night or I'll vote to pull him (Marshall) out."

Following that vote, Bates forwarded a motion to ask Marshall to terminate his contract with the EBRPD "immediately" if a "good faith meeting" is not held Wednesday.

That motion deadlocked at 2-2 with Bort and Supervisor John Murphy in opposition and Cooper abstaining.

Groulx had the final word Tuesday night when he said, "If we're not successful tomorrow night (Wednesday), we're going to go to court to get you out."

Critics take aim at latest Blackhawk plans

By JOHN VANLANDINGHAM
Lesher News Bureau

MARTINEZ — Violations of county ordinances and rezoning conditions have been charged against the Blackhawk Ranch.

The allegations came Tuesday at the County Planning Commission's hearings on the tentative subdivision map for Blackhawk's first phase and final development plans.

The planning commission has closed the hearing on the first phase and final development plans, but will accept written testimony through Sunday on the environmental impact report.

A decision is scheduled for May 27. But Planning Director Anthony Dehaesus warned that it could be as late as June 3.

Blackhawk's first phase calls for 427 units on 230 acres approximately one mile from Blackhawk Road and three - tenths of a mile from Mt. Diablo Scenic Boulevard.

Six major open space areas are contained in the first phase, including three prominent knolls and two hills.

The 4,200 - unit Danville development's foes got another crack at the project Wednesday afternoon at County Local Agency Formation's (LAFC) deliberations on the development's proposed reorganization.

Blackhawk President Robert Carrau has proposed that LAFC approve annex the project into Central Contra Costa Sanitary District, East Bay Municipal District and Contra Costa Fire Protection District, and at the same time approving detaching it from Tassajara Fire District.

That reorganization was also addressed Tuesday night.

Linda Moody, president of Amigos de Diablo, said approval of the reorganization meant a countywide referendum would be needed to halt Blackhawk.

"It would defeat the one chance for San Ramon Valley residents to vote on Blackhawk," she said.

Then she launched into an attack on Blackhawk's compliance with county ordinances and the supplemental environmental impact report (EIR) pertaining to the development's first phase.

She charged that the subdivision map submitted April 28 fails to contain outlines of existing slides and fails to note property lines lying across Blackhawk Road.

The preliminary grading plan is inadequate, she argued.

Many lots are located on slopes of 30 to 50 per cent, despite the developers promise and county conditions limiting development on slopes over 20 per cent, Mrs. Moody charged.

The grading map should show lot pad outlines and elevations, she continued. Where lot pads aren't shown, grading for them should be barred.

"Important conditions attached to the rezoning approval have been violated," Mrs. Moody said.

An earlier plan showed the first phase with six cul-de-sacs reaching finger-like toward Mt. Diablo. But Tuesday's map showed only one cul-de-sac and many rows of houses, parallel to Blackhawk Road, their backs fronting onto that road.

"There has been no evidence presented to show this plan is consistent with the general plan. I request you declare it inconsistent when you make your findings," she said.

Jeffrey Grote, a consulting geologist for the Sierra Club, noted that the EIR called for the elimination of any seismic hazards, while a consultant's report only recommended reducing them to a "practical minimum."

In one case, he said, the developers had reduced a hill by 28 feet in their grading plans.

Rudolph Ulrich, a consulting engineer from Walnut Creek, charged that the average lot size is 10,000 square feet, not 15,000 as the developers promised at the rezoning hearings.

Off- site erosion and flooding from Blackhawk's drainage was the subject of another complaint.

Don Hoffman, representing the Diablo Property owners Association, warned the first phase will increase flood waters in Green Valley Creek.

He charged the developers with violating a rezoning condition requiring the retention of stream beds in their natural state.

"Look at their tentative map. There's not one natural stream bed there. They're all piped and filled," Hoffman charged.

Blackhawk's attorney, Dan Van Voorhies of Walnut Creek, did not respond to the allegations of legal violations, but he did present a document for evidence.

Van Voorhies submitted as an appendix to the supplementary EIR, the foot-thick rezoning EIR for Blackhawk.

He said the reorganization was much simpler and faster than having to go to each of the districts requesting the action.

"As for Central San," he said, "if we should not be annexed there, we can always build our own sewer system."

Soils engineer William Wiggington said there was no question but what homes could be built on the land, adding that the proposed school site in the north central area of the parcel was "superior."

Hydrologist William Chapman said ways to mitigate the off-site impact of drainage both on residences and the creeks were being studied.

Carrau denied Mrs. Moody's allegation that building would occur on slnpes of 30 to 50 per cent.

Protest in state capital...Empty beds in Valley

After joining doctors from all over California Tuesday in Sacramento, Valley anesthesiologists as well as those elsewhere have decided to continue their walkout, offering their services only in dire emergencies in protest of high malpractice insurance rates. Valley Memorial Hospital is operating only half full, laying off many of its 350 employes and losing about $6,000 a day since use of the hospital has been for non - surgical, obstetrical and emergency cases only. A decision on what action will be taken at VMH for the duration of the walkout is expected today from administrator Tom Andrews. Meanwhile, many Valley doctors are respecting the protest by eliminating routine appointments, while others are remaining open as usual. (Times photos)

Reactions vary in Valley to new smoke-in-schools law

Gov. Edmund Brown, Jr. has signed into law a bill allowing local school boards to set aside specially - designated areas on campus where high school students can smoke.

Sponsored by State Senator Arlen Gregorio, the measure, SB 171, cleared both the Senate and Assembly by one - vote margins amid arguments it would encourage smoking among students. A provision of the law directs school boards to take all measures to discourage smoking.

"A lot of kids smoke because it is forbidden," said Gregorio, hinting that the new law might diminish the "forbidden fruit" appeal of cigarette smoking on campus. An aide to the senator said the bill is designed to get cigarette smoking out of high school restrooms.

Bruce Newlin, superintendent of the Amador Valley Joint Union School District, said the school board wil set up a committee composed of students, parents, teachers and administrators to study the new law at its next meeting on Tuesday, May 13.

Charles Beazley, a member of the Amador school board, is not in favor of allowing students to smoke but will await the committee's report. "As far as I am concerned, smoking has no place on campus — but it is so hard to control, and if something has to be done then areas should be set aside;" said Beazley.

Asked if students favored such areas be set up, but parents opposed it, Beazley said he would agree with the parents' position and vote against it. "Parents are still the legal guardians of the students, and their position must be given more weight," said Beazley.

John Delaney, another school board member, said, "You don't really stop people from smoking by saying 'Don't smoke.' If you look at your value system, then it's almost ridiculous to try to stop smoking in high school, especially if an individual's parents have given permission." Delaney said he would wait for discussion by the board before making any final determination.

John Struthers, out - going student body president at Granada High school, said he felt the new law was an opportunity to protect non - smokers as well as let smokers indulge without fearof punishment.

"I think we definitely need something like this. It seems like to even try to prohibit it, you're still not doing going to stop it," said Struthers.

"We have smokers scattered all around at Granada. I'm a non - smoker myself, and I would like to know where they are so I can avoid them," Struthers said.

Granada even fails to recognize the existence of smokers, as no ashtrays are provided in the general traffic areas of the school. Struthers said cigarettes butts were thrown everywhere, thereby increasing the amount of litter in the school.

Currently, a student can be suspended or expelled from school for smoking, but there are no laws against a student smoking off - campus.

Pleasanton attorney CSW member

OAKLAND — Carolyn Jackson, an attorney from Pleasanton, became the last commissioner appointed to the Alameda County Commission on the Status of Women (CSW) immediately before its meeting Tuesday night.

Ms. Jackson was appointed by Supervisor John Murphy and brings the commission tc its full 17 members.

CSW unanimously adopted its by-laws at its meeting and established eight standing committees.

An unusual and significent feature of the by-laws is that they divest chairpersons from most of the responsibilities and authority normally associated with the position.

Chairpersons will not have the authority to appoint and remove committee members under the adopted CSW by-laws. Rather, this power will lie with the commission.

The eight standing committees established at the meeting are: executive (to be comprised of the commission chairperson, vice-chairperson, secretary and one member at large); housing; legal; employment; health services; mothers' rights; education, and community services.

Commissioners are expected to appoint members to the committees at their next meeting May 20, at which time they also will elect officers.

Presently, CSW has an interim chairperson.

In other business relating to the women's commission, county Supervisors voted at their meeting, which also was held Tuesday night, to send copies of the ordinance establishing CSW to all other counties in California.

CSW had asked the supervisors to send letters of endorsement to the counties supporting the establishment of women's commissions statewide.

Pleasanton budget shows $140,000 bulge over '74

PLEASANTON — The Pleasanton Elementary School District board took its initial look at the preliminary budget for 1975-76 last night, gazing at a ledger that is slightly more than $140,000 over the present budget.

In his summation to trustees, Doug Rose, director of business services, said the base revenue is estimated to increase by five per cent to $953.95 per average daily attendance (ADA). Rose added that he could see no change coming in the current method of financing schools.

Average daily attendance is estimated to increase by 31 students, to 5,457, in the seven district schools.

Looking at estimated income, Rose said that Public Law 874, as applied to 1975-76, would mean a loss of about $77,394 to the district. School allocations are expected to operate at the same level as 1973-74, as the 1974-75 inflation factor, plus some capital outlay, was cut from the budget and has not been restored.

As usual, between 80 and 85 per cent of expenditures will go to certificated salaries....$3,791,125....Classified salaries and employe benefits.

Teachers' salaries will comprise $3.27 million of the above figure and classified salaries $821,998. Employe benefits have risen from $556,661 for the current school year to a preliminary figure of $637,961.

Books, supplies and equipment replacement is pegged to cost $242,173, down from the present total of $286,102. Contracted services and other operating expenses (utilities and housekeeping, insurance, conferences) is estimated to be $307,305, up from the current total of $291,143.

Basic and equalization aid from the state will again provide the major share of income, $2,706,042, with secured taxes the second greatest support, $1,591,769. Areawide taxes will bring in as estimated $995,224, up almost $108,000 from 1974-75.

The district projects an adjusted net beginning balance of $370,735, down $110,000 from the present total.

Mother honored through the ages

Consider the plight of mothers.

For 364 days a year they may be overworked, underappreciated, deafened by demands, chore-laden, child-bothered, kitchen-wearied and generally taken for granted

Then comes Mother's Day — Sunday,

life style

May 11, this year — and for 24 hours at least the family gives mother her due.

According to reserachers at Hallmark Cards, the annual tradition of honoring mothers, although only 67 years old in the United States, has its roots in antiquity.

In spirit, Mother's Day goes back to a spring festival held in ancient Greece as a tribute to Cybele, mother of gods. The Romans adopted the custom about 250 B. C. at the festival of Hilaria, which began on the Ides of March with feasting and dancing and continued for three days.

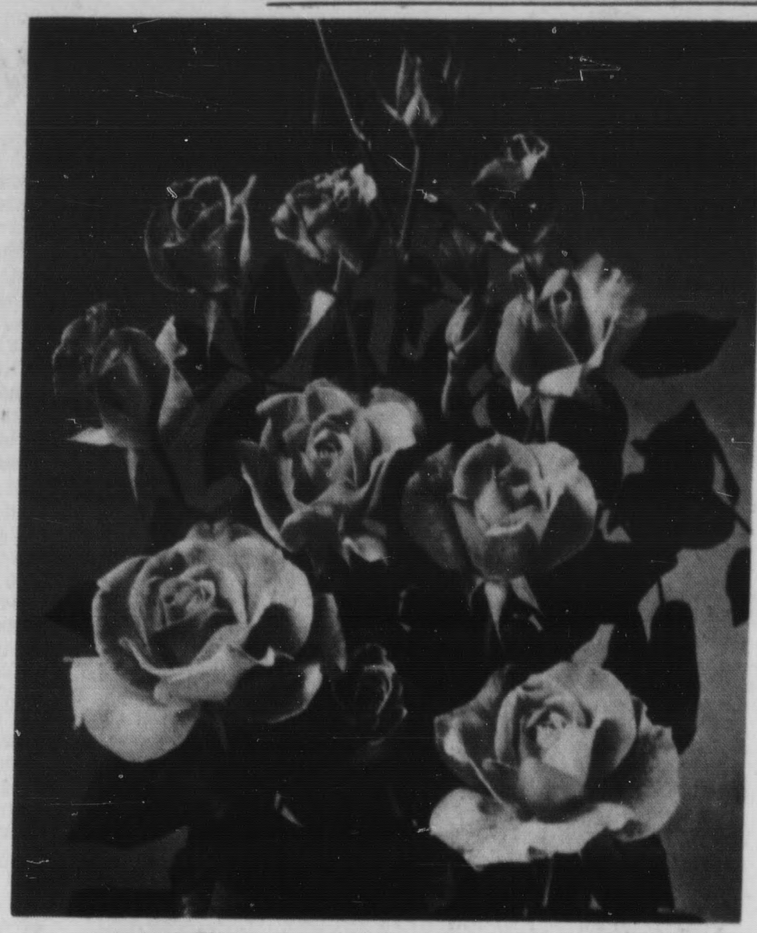
Later, in 17th Century England, young men and women who were apprentices or servants often went home to visit their mothers on the fourth Sunday in Lent. On "Mothering Sunday," as it was called, children usually brought gifts of wild flowers and simnel cake — a rich, hard-crusted fruit cake.

The first observance of Mother's Day in the U. S. was a church service held in Grafton, West Virginia, in 1908 at the request of Miss Anna M. Jarvis, a minister's daughter. It was a tribute to her mother who had died three years earlier.

But it took Miss Jarvis another six years of pleading, persuading, letter-writing and lobbying before her dream of an officially recognized Mother's Day became a reality.

President Woodrow Wilson proclaimed the national celebration of Mother's Day in 1914.

Since then, on the second Sunday of each May, flags have been flown - and carnations worn in homes across the nation. And Mom has been accorded enough smiles, cards, flowers, candy, kisses and kind words to sustain her for another twelve months.



Rose to the occasion!

Rose beauties will bask in limelight this weekend in the Pleasanton Rose Show at the First National Bank of Pleasanton. World Red Cross Day observed World Red Cross Day is traditionally observed May 8, anniversary of the birth of Red Cross founder, Henri Dunant.

Disasters which claim Red Cross attention range from a one-person emergency to the outbreak of war, or natural catastrophes with thousands of victims.

Red Cross societies around the world are responding to the urgent appeal for contributions to International Red Cross relief operations in SE Asia. The American national organization has already sent $100,000 in response to an appeal for $35 million.

Contributions may be sent to the Diablo Chapter, 1045 Detroit Ave., Concord, CA 94518. Checks should be payable to the American National Red Cross and earmarked for Southeast Asia.

'OAK GALLS'
Best of Show textile was created by Cynthia Ostle.

Quality watercolors were by far the outstanding feature of the recent art show sponsored by the Pleasanton Art League at Franklin Savings and Loan Association.

The show marked a sixth anni-versary in conjunction with the Pleasanton Spring Arts and Crafts Festival and the KNBR "Good Times" parade.

Art show judges Betty Pleshe and Barbara Speck were particularly impressed with the quality of the 150 entries, especially in the watercolor category which outnumbered five other categories, according to a PAL spokesman. The league hopes to expand its annual art show to include honorable mention awards next year.

Taking top honors as "Best of Show" in paintings was Muriel Doggett's watercolor, "Survived Another Spring Thaw"' "Best of Show" in other media was captured by Cynthia Ostle with her textile wall-hanging "Oak Galls."

Voted "most popular" by the thousands of visitors who viewed the show in its two-day run was "Los Positas Dream," an oil painting by Diane Axton. Other honors accorded were:

In the oil painting category: first place to Allan Reubelt for "Driftwood;" second to Warren Wade; third to Robert Lunger.

In watercolors: first place to Mary Toman for "Mardis Creek View 2;" second to Frances Callaghan; third to Yvonne Gorman. In the category for pastels and graphics: first place to "The Silent Sea" by Stephanie Lepplemeir; second to Marilyn Brown; third to Terri Bunce.

In textiles and stitchery: first place to Bill Ostle's "Rawhide;" second to Leah Hendricks; third to Cynthia Ostle. In the category for sculpture and pottery: first place to a basket by Leah Hendricks; second to Nadine McKinney; third to Carole Duarte.

In the category for abstract art of any medium: first to Stephanie Leppelmeir's "Toy Box;" second to Claire Haratani; third to Margo Kirkewoog.

The PAL Spring Arts and Crafts Festival, which attracted its best crowd of browsers Sunday on Main Street, was deemed less of a financial than PAL's fall festival, perhaps because of the poor weekend weather or competition from the parade, according to Chairman Billie Schmer.

'SURVIVED ANOTHER SPRING THAW'
Watercolor captured Best of Show for Muriel Doggett.

'DRIFTWOOD'
Allan Ruebelt earned a first in oils with his work.

'ONCE UPON A TIME'
Abstract by Claire Haratani took second place.

'RUPTURE IN THE AMERICAN WAY'
Second place sculpture is by Nadine McKinney.

Vineyard setting for LAA's May 25 show

Plans are in full swing for the third annual Art in the Vineyard art show to be sponsored by the Livermore Art Association at the historic Concannon Vineyards in Livermore May 25.

Fine arts, handicrafts, art-in-action and wine-tasting will be incorporated in the Memorial Day event, according to co-chairmen Joan Taylor and Florence Quillen.

The unique "Sheep to Shawl" demonstration which proved very popular at last year's show will again be staged. It portrays the early 18th Century process of weaving from start to finish.

A variety of music and entertainment will en-hance the charm of the vineyard, atmosphere. Sisters Melody and Frances Francis will play classical, light classical and fiddle tunes on violin and flute, occasionally accompanied by guitarist Michael Ward.

Cartoonist Mary Kion of LAA will render humorous art pieces free of charge at the show. Mary was editor of a Navy newspaper and boasted her own cartoon strip while in the Navy.

The Laughing Cricket Puppet Show, featuring Director Lucille Musso, her daughter Juliet and Dianna McGregor of the Livermore Playschool, will present several shows to delight children as well as adults.

Mime artist David Cooper, a specialist in children's theater will also be on the scene. Professional singer and teacher Kathy Dahlbacka will accompany herself on the dulcimer, with assistance from Norman Castaneda, professional flamenco and classical guitarist.

William Sala reveals portraiture technique

William Sala, who captured "Best of Show" honors two consecutive years at the Valley Artists annual art show, will be a guest of the league Tuesday, May 13.

The public is invited to join the group at 7:30 p.m. at Fredericksen Elementary School in Dublin.

Sala will demonstrate techniques of oil portraiture without using a model. Largely self-taught, Sala developed his unique style and technique over 22 years of painting. He is a native of the San Francisco Bay Area.

Winner of several awards, Sala is currently superintendent of Rhodes and Jamieson, Inc. in the building materials business.

LAA egg tempera demo

Terry St. John, associate curator of art at the Oakland Museum, will speak and demonstrate for members of the Livermore Art Association May 14 at the Livermore Recreation Center.

The public is welcome to the 7:30 p.m. admission-free meeting.

St. John, who is particularly interested in modern art, will demonstrate his personal approach in an egg tempera medium using a live model.

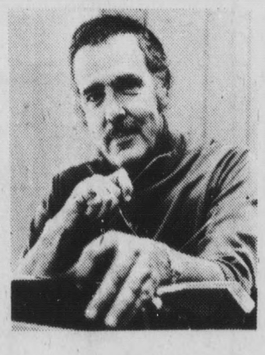
A former art instructor in painting, drawing and design at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, St. John is a graduate of the University of California and the California College of Arts and Crafts.

Mother's Day

A Mother's Day Gift Show, featuring original handcrafted gifts, will be presented by the Valley Craft Guild at Livermore's Holiday Inn Friday and Saturday, May 9 and 10 from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m.

SETTING THE SCENE

Bill Hayden



THE TOWERING INFERNO was produced by two studios, 20th Century Fox and Warners. The screenplay was taken from two books, THE TOWER by Richard Martin Stern and THE GLASS INFERNO by Thomas M. Scotia and Frank M. Robinson. There were two directors, John Guillermin and Irwin Allen. Guillermin was responsible for the story line while Allen handled the action sequences. Irwin also doubled as producer. Finally, more than $14 million was expended in getting the production to your theatre screen.

Any skeptic's first reaction would be; Too many cooks and too much broth. Their first reaction would be wrong. TOWERING INFERNO is a big, fascinating and very old fashioned movie to which you can apply the old wheeze — it keeps you on the edge of your seat — and that's the truth!

Facetiously, it might be said there are two important messages to be gleaned from the movie. One — never set foot off the ground floor of any building. Two — if you indulge in extracurricular hanky-panky, you're apt to get burned.

There are a lot of more important lessons to be learned from the story, however. Greed, cheating, excessive pride and a couple of more of the deadly sins are just a few of the things pointed out as a sure path to downfall; or in this case, incineration.

If there is a weakness or shortcoming in THE TOWERING INFERNO it has to be the lack of character development and detail we have grown accustomed to during the past couple of decades in movie making. In the good old days we knew our villains and heroes through an established format of black and white. Suddenly we're back to that method of story-telling. It's a bit of a jolt but not unwelcome. You know instantly who's the dog who done the dirt. The shining hero is instantly recognizable although I must say he's not as simon-pure as in days of yore. That's an advantage, however. You can relate to his problems instead of having to live up to them.

The cast is very spectacular and all of the individual names are in top form. Steve McQueen, Paul Newman, William Holden, Faye Dunaway, Fred Astaire, Susan Blakely, Richard Chamberlain, Jennifer Jones, O.J. Simpson, Robert Vaughn and Robert Wagner. In a final listing, however, the real star of the picture has to be that impressive glass tower rising 138 floors above the hills of San Francisco. It is an magnificent illusion and the special effects departments of both studios are to be congratulated for the achievement.

One of the fascinating things is the reaction of audiences to THE TOWERING INFERNO. People are literally spellbound by the disaster on view. I suppose there are some psychological explanations for this morbid attraction the human mind has to the cataclysmic. It's the same syndrome that has people slowing down on busy freeways to view a gory accident. They're never a help and always in the way, but they have a shuddery compulsion to seen the mayhem and to be grateful, I suppose, that it hasn't happened to them. There seems to be one great self-destruct button in the human mind. The only way we can keep from pressing it ourselves is to vicariously enjoy the trials and tribulations befalling others. How else can we explain the total enjoyment of the big wind in HURRICANE, the fire of IN OLD CHICAGO, the earth tremors of SAN FRANCISCO and all the other epic forms of destruction we've been privy to?g In most episodic movies the action lags while we get involved with the individual characters. THE TOWERING INFERNO avoids this pitfall. The action, tension and suspense are relentless. From the first moment, you know doomsday is here for that masterpiece shimmering in the fogless sky. Nothing can save it and the true excitement of the film is watching everyone of your most gory predictions come true. All the stops are pulled out. There is nothing subtle about being trapped by fire. Fortunately the authors and others involved in the production stuck strictly to the action elements. The result is a really big, exciting and satisfying entertainment.

FAMILY CIRCUS

"Do doctors ever get sick like real people?"

astrograph

by Bernice Bede Osol

For Thursday, May 8, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're going to have to try a different approach to a problem facing you. A temporary solution is better than marking time.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You will be a very slow starter today. To get off dead center, you'll need motivation. Think about those obligations.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your movements today could be restricted because you lack resources. Use ingenuity. You'll find ways to get out of the box.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If your approach is too obvious concerning your ambitions, you're going to create resentment. Be subtle to succeed.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't hesitate to ask advice on how to solve a complicated problem today. No one will think less of you. They'll be pleased you asked.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You'll run into a stone wall in negotiations today. An alternate plan you'll devise will break the deadlock.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) An intensive selling job will be necessary to get your point across to one whose help is vital. Don't hold back details.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A project you were hoping to complete today must be shelved. You don't have the proper tools so turn to something else.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're not as lucky in your dealings today as yesterday. Don't take chances on anything sight-unseen and don't gamble.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your mate will not be in accord with your ideas on a family matter. You may have to take the initiative to realize what's good for all.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Being overbearing with subordinates today will only serve to defeat you. You'll get nowhere by goading them. Charm works wonders.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Before buying anything today, comparison-shop. It may take extra time, but a healthier purse will result.

You will be given greater responsibility this year where your work or career is concerned

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Sir Dinadan, the worst bridge player of all the knights of the round table, made it a point never to bid no trump when partnered by the peerless Lancelot. Hence his two-club rebid.

Lancelot won the heart lead in his own hand and promptly led the jack of clubs. East won with the queen and promptly shifted to the nine of spades. There is no point returning your partner's suit when it isn't going to do you any good.

Lancelot won in dummy, counted winners carefully and saw that he was going to need a total of four tricks in the minor suits to bring home the game. Since the queen of clubs had already won against him, he was going to be held to three club tricks. Hence, he needed one diamond in addition.

Therefore, Lancelot's next play was the seven of diamonds from dummy. If East played the ace, that would give Lancelot four diamond tricks so East played low. After winning with the king Lancelot went right back to clubs, knocked out West's ace and wound up with two spades, three hearts, three clubs, one diamond and the customary approbation from Dinadan.

Pleasanton programs outdoor field trips

PLEASANTON — Brochures are now ready detailing the "Sierras to The Pacific" summer outdoor education program that will run from June 23 through July 24.

Open to kindergarten through seventh grade students in Pleasanton, the program is being organized by a staff of teachers headed by Jim Kimbell, a kindergarten teacher at Walnut Grove School.

All reservations for the three sections of the program will be taken on a first-come, first-served basis. Reservations should be postmarked no later than May 19 and mailed with a check (no cash, please) payble to Summer Outdoor Education to Jim Kimbell, Walnut Grove School, P.O. Box 130, Pleasanton 94566.

"Over The River And Through The Woods" is the theme of the program for boys and girls in grades kindergarten through third. Scheduled for June 23 through July 18, the cost is $10 per student and covers entrance fees, the ferry fare to to Angel Island and food for over-nighters.

The program will offer an opportunity to explore through day trips many natural and agricultural areas. At the areas (Tilden Park, Environmental Education Center, Mt. Diablo State Park, Natural Bridges), the children will participate in nature walks and studies as well as art and craft activities. These programs will culminate with two local overnight camping experiences. All experiences will help to increase the child's awareness of his relationship to his environment and help to inspire a greater appreciation of nature.

There will also be visits to Bay Area natural science exhibits at Tilden, Steinhart Aquarium, Lawrence Hall of Science in Berkeley and the Alexander Lindsay Junior Museum in Walnut Creek.

The program for fourth through seventh graders is entitled "Camping Beneath The Stars" and lasts from June 23 to July 11.

The program will focus on integrated learning activities centered around camping and outdoor skills, aiming towards a finer appreciation of our natural environment. Experiences will include outdoor cooking, pitching tents, building fires, nature study, ecology, arts and crafts, singing, skits, beachcombing, star gazing, fishing, swimming and generally having a good time with others in such outdoor settings as the ocean-side, riverbanks and Sierras.

There will be two 1-day trips to either Alcatraz, Samuel Taylor, Tilden Park, Uvis Meadows or Muir Woods. An overnight trip and a three-day trip to either Russian River-Austin Creek State Park, Mount Tamalpais, Big Basin, Big Sur, Buettano, Salt Point or Kirby Cove. A 4-day trip to Snyder's Camp at Carson Pass in El Dorado National Forest is also listed.

Children in this program will need a sleeping bag, hiking shoes or boots, flashlight and eating utensils.

Cost is $33.50 per student and covers food, camp fees, equipment rental and craft supplies.

"Mountain High" is for fourth through seventh graders who want to become more proficient at back packing.

The program is scheduled July 7 to July 24.

$17 million funds on way to Valley for urban plans

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — More than $17 million in federal funds was approved Tuesday night by the Alameda County Board of Supervisors for traffic projects throughout the county.

The Federal Aid Urban program funds will be distributed over a five-year period.

In the next three years, Pleasanton will receive approximately $230,000 and Livermore will receive $568,000.

The local communities have already approved a priority list of projects for the money and, following the supervisors' approval, the priority lists will go to the Metropolitan Transporation Commission and then to the California Department of Transporation for final approval.

Livermore's projects were included in the county list while Plpasanton had chosen to submit a separate application. City Manager Bill Edgar told the supervisors Pleasanton had decided "to separate ourselves out so we wouldn't be involved with disputes with other cities. We felt it would be more expeditious," he added.

Livermore has listed six projects totaling more than $4 million on which it might use its funds. The remainder of the money will have to come from other sources. The projects include East Avenue, "L" Street, Concannon Boulevard, East Stanley Boulevard, Arroyo Road and a parking lot for BART express bus patrons on Stanley Boulevard.

Pleasanton's projects, which total $250,000, include signalization of First and Neal Streets, improvements and signalization of Valley Avenue and Santa Rita Road and widening of Kottinger Avenue.

MARIJUANA BILL

A motion by Supervisor Tom Bates to support SB 95, a bill that would reduce penalties for possession of marijuana was defeated by a 1-3-1 vote.

Bates noted that, in 1973, marijuana arrests accounted for one out of every four arrests and added that 106,000 marijuana arrests are projected for the coming year. He said he believed law enforcement agencies should devote more time to violent crimes.

Supervisor Charles Santana seconded that motion, but only so he could get it on the floor to vote against it. "This bill would allow people to run around with an ounce of marijuana," Santana said. "That's 30 or 40 cigarettes." Santana added the bill would remove the present penalty for being in a place where marijuana is smoked.

"I lost a nephew to an over dose of heroine," Santana said, "and no one's going to tell me they're not related. Marijuana is a very dangerous drug and this (bill) would encourage its use."

Supervisor Joseph Bort opposed supporting the bill because he believed "it is too restrictive on judges. We need a great deal more flexibility, this is too restrictive on the liberal side," h added.

Chairman Fred Cooper abstained from the action but said he would support the bill if it were amended to include felony charges for sale of marijuana, possession for sale and possession of hasish. Cooper did not get a second on his motion, however, so the matter was dropped.

Supervhsor John Murphy also voted against supporting the bill.

In other action, the board:

√ Approved a contract with Williams Brothers Construction Company Inc. for improvements on San Ramon Road at Alcosta Boulevard and Shannon Avenue. Their bid of $24,975 was the lowest of six received.

√ Continued for one to two weeks consideration of a modification of the Food Stamp Vendor Contract with Valley Bank because of confusion over the changes.

√ Referred a Livermore City Council recommendation that the supervisors be enlarged to seven members to the Charter Review Committee.

√ Executed a contract with the Amador Valley Joint Union High School District for educational services to inmates at Santa Rita.

John Felton wins Eagle Scout rank

A Court of Honor ceremony was conducted by Explorer Post No. 912, Livermore in honor of John Felton of Boy Scout Troop No. 916, Pleasanton when he received the highest rank obtainable by a Scout, that of Eagle. The ceremony was under the direction of Stan Black the Post's advisor and Leonard Whitbred, Troop 916 Scoutmaster.

John became active with the Scouting program at the age of eight, joining Cub Pack 916. From there he went into Scout Troop 916, has participated in three Scout summer camps, one 50 mile hike, has held the office of assistant partrol leader, patrol leader and scribe.

For his Eagle project, John landscaped the side of the Highland Oaks Recreation Center, making a retaining wall with railroad ties and laying a cement walkway through the field to Lydiken School located Highland Oaks behind the facility.

A student at Wells Intermediate School, John has been on the Scholastic honor roll for two years and he is presently an officer in the Amador Valley Chapter DeMolay. He has also played with Pop Warner and school football for the last two years

In a reply of an invitation to mailed to Congressman Pete Stark and President Gerald R. Ford, John received a U.S. flag with a certificate stating the date it flew over the US Capitol in Washington, D.C. and a congratulatory letter from Congressman Stark and a congratulatory card signed by the President.

Buses will run two hours late and classes will start at 10 a.m. Dismissal will be at the regular time. Buses will run regular routes.

U.S. offers fish pond care tips

A properly managed fishpond can produce 100 to 300 pounds of catchable-sized fish each year, according to the United States Department of Agriculture.

There are over 1,000 ponds in Alameda County that meet the minimum requirements for a multiple use pond. Those requirements include:

- 1. A minimum surface area of ½ acre;
- 2. A depth of at least six feet;
- 3. A shallow water zone (under three feet) covering no more than 10 per cent of the area;
- 4. An abscence of aquatic weeds;
- 5. The abscence of undesirable fish.

Spring is the time to initiate fish management and weed abatement programs and the best way to control weeds is by fertilizing the pond, paradoxical as it may seem.

Camp Parks job is fun, but not the uniforms

Lora-Laine Strickland wanted a part-time job that wouldn't take her away from her two teen-aged sons too much.

So she joined the Army.

Although that might seem like a somewhat radical step for a seemingly normal Pleasanton mother, Strickland has found the extra $150 a month — not including her PX privileges — to be well worth it.

Her job is pleasant — typing tests at Camp Parks for the 91st Maneuver Training Command — but it is not what she had in mind when she joined.

"I wanted to work in drafting" Strickland said but she then discovered that meant 16 weeks of training in Virginia. However, her typing skills, despite 15 years of rust, qualified her to receive 32 hours of training at her home base, Camp Parks, and only two weeks in basic training.

Specialist 4th Class-mother of two Lora-Laine Strickland

"They condensed a six week program into two weeks" she recalled a little less than fondly. "Everything a man did, we did. We dressed in fatigues, learned to use gas masks and we marched everywhere."

Although training at Fort McClellan (in Alabama) with a rifle was not included, after Ju%y 1 all WACs will be required to learn to use a rifle as well.

"You have to get up at five in the morning" she said. "The quarter has to bounce off the bed and everything."

"Survival was the name of the game" but Strickland came through with relative ease and a lot more self-confidence.

Now she works "a couple days a week", one weekend a month and two weeks every summer and is quite happy with it She signed up for three years and so far(about three months), everything's going well.

Surprisingly, two-thirds of her platoon in basic training was made up of married women with children although Strickland says "It's a great program for young girls "g Strickland is now a Specialist 4th Class and works "with a lot of brass — they're all colonels and majors out there". She does more than just type all day and adds "I'm learning to use a lot of new machines".

There is one thing, though. "Youd do get tired of your uniforms really fast" she says unhappily — but after all, it is the Army.

Mori bill supports athletics

SACRAMENTO — Legislation introduced by Assemblyman Floyd Mori, which seeks to provide more athletic opportunities for women at California State University and colleges has won the blessing of the Assembly Subcommittee on Postsecondary Education.

The Mori bill, AB 1558, will require the state colleges to distribute athletic funds between male and female students "as equally as practical.

Mori added, "My bill doesn't say the college football teams must recruit girls. It's merely an expression of our growing awareness that athletic opportunities for women have not measured up to the demand.

"As Americans, we place high value on the character-building aspect of sports endeavors. Therefor we should now recognizr that this is as equally as important for women as it is for male students," Mori said.

The first term legislator was an instructor at Chabot College before his election to the 15th Assembly District seat in March.

SR schools ask votes for funds

The San Ramon Valley Unified School District will make another attempt to finance construction in the district this month, and Superintendent Allan Petersdorf said passage will save taxpayers money.

"This project would have cost $1.2 million less last year" pointed out Petersdorf and implied that the construction would cost even more if it is delayed again.

The $6.5 million revenue limit increase election on May 27 will, if passed, add to California High School, construct a new intermediate school and remodel bedraggled San Ramon High School.

Wolves expected to take dual meet title

Today marks the cusp of the dual track meet season, an end to the dubious practice of combining the performances of some 40-odd runners, jumpers and throwers and matching the point total against another team.

In the East Bay Athletic League, San Ramon High is best at this. The Wolves are heavy favorites to complete an undefeated dual meet season with their fifth victory when they meet contending Livermore on the Cowboys' track today at 3:00.

If the dual meet angle holds no more than academic interest at this point, there's certain to be plenty of focus on outstanding individuals from both teams, as competitors ready themselves for the attrition process which reads: league meet, division meet, section meet, state meet.

Barring an attack of the Saigon flu, or some other untimely catastrophe, one of today's performers should go the entire route. SR's Roy Kissin is expected to run the mile against Livermore, and the single assignment indicates coach Dan Stevens' assurance that Roy won't be needed to hustle points in either the 880 or two mile.

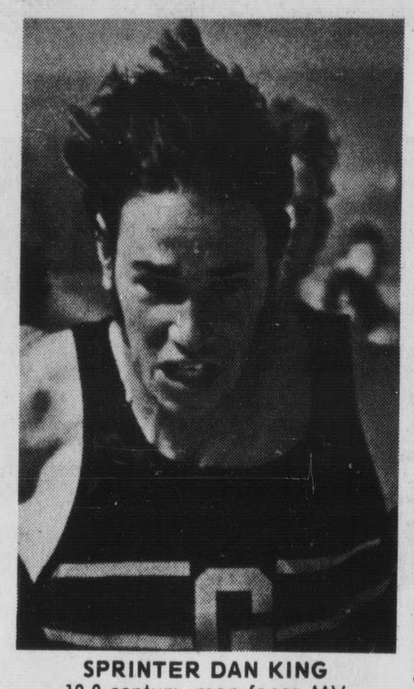
"I don't think I'll double, and I certainly won't triple," says Roy, who did the latter for three victories in San Ramon's devastation of Granada last month.

Kissin's absence from the half mile tightens the race a bit, with Livermore's Mike Nagel and Curt Williams dueling SR's Paul Swenson. Though Swenson has yet to dip under 2:03.0, and Nagel and Williams have been flirting with 2:00.0, the Wolf half-miler has been training well, according to Danville observers.

"The 880 will be tight," promises Wolf assistant coach Bob Vincent "And in the two mile, they can draw from (Boyd) Tarin, (Steve) Sinchak and (Jeff) Nixon, as well as the possibility of doubling their milers."

Should freshman Victor Aguayo and/or Bret Hazen be tapped for the eight-lapper after a round with internationalist Kissin, he or they will be met by Marty James and Jed Morrow, who have been improving of late.

The 440 relay is rated a toss-up, with quartermile foes Rich Sessions of the Cowboys and Matt Priewe of SR flashing the anchor leg. San Ramon is a prohibitive favorite in the mile relay, where a quartet of Fritz Venker, Swenson, Tim O'Donnell and Priewe lowered the school record to 3:26.3 last weekend in Woodland.



SPRINTER DAN KING
10.0 century man faces MV

The battle between Priewe and Sessions in the quarter shapes up as the individual showdown of the day, as both have eyes for the magic 50-second mark.

In the field, San Ramon's weight crew of Rick Brunner, Rich Wright and Mike Bowles should account for a major share of the shot and discus spoils, while triple jumper Chuck Benedict continues to look for the early-season momentum which had him moving toward the 46-foot range.

Meanwhile, pole vaulter Kris Hollmer tends to a pulled leg muscle suffered while long jumping, and remains a limited performer.

Elsewhere, Dan King leads Granada's Matadors against Monte Vista in Danville. King is the EBAL leader in the 100-yard dash, with a 10.0. He'll go against Bob Gregor, who ran 10.1 two weeks ago in a non-league encounter with Ygnacio Valley.

Hottest item to date in the league sprint ranks, however, is the news that Granada's King will join Priewe, O'Donnell and Sessions in what should be a dogfight for the EBAL 440 title.

Barr 6-hits Braves, Giants triumph

ATLANTA (AP) — Jim Barr hurled a six-hitter and Willie Montanez hit his first home run for San Francisco, leading the Giants to a 6-2 victory over the Atlanta Braves Wednesday night.

Barr, 3-2, had trouble mainly with Mike Lum, who smacked his first home run ox the season in the second inning, a towering fly into the right field corner, and doubled inside third base in the fifth.

The Giants scored two unearned runs off loser Carl Morton, 5-2, in the opening inning. Derrel Thomas and Bobby Murcer singled and the bases were loaded when shortstop Larvell Blanks' throw on Garry Matthews' grounder pulled first baseman Lum off the bag. Thomas scored on a forceout grounder by Montanez and Chris Speier singled Murcer across.

Speier doubled in the fourth and scored on Dave Rader's single. The Giants added a run in the seventh when Von Joshua singled, stole second and scored on Thomas' single off Lum's glove.

Matadors psych up for Section swim

There's the joke about a Granada High swimmer who was filling out a questionnaire for a college recruiter. "Are you a member of an organized swim team?" read the first question. "No," answered the youngster. "I'm a Matador."

If that sounds suspiciously like a hackneyed political joke, it at least comes to grips with Granada High School's swimming past. It has been dismal. The Matadors, in all their years, never won an EBAL championship. And the people they qualified for North Coast competition could be transported on a bicycle built for two.

Of course all that changed this season when the team won every league meet and charged through North Coast qualifying like an invading Navy. Saturday, Matadors will travel to Santa Rosa for the North Coast Section championships.

The team is speculating about a top 10 finish in this climax to the high school season. In past seasons no one even bothered to tell Granada where the championships were being held.

The team has found direction, and eye-opening success this year. And the key, according to Granada's top swimmer, Chris Hoenig, has been first-year coach Gus DeGara.

"He made all the difference," says Hoenig, a junior who will compete in three events Saturday at Santa Rosa High School. "He gave us the confidence, and he followed it up by giving us good workouts.

DeGara, who also coaches the Livermore Aquacowboys in AAU competition, arrived at Granada this season after a string of successes at Serra High. He inherited a strong group of veteran swimmers, headed by three-time letter winner Hoenig. The raw talent alone didn't produce an EBAL championship, however, Hoenig says. It was DeGara's guidance.

"We got team spirit from him," Chris says, "and that's very important. When you've got everybody on the team behind you, you go faster.

"And the guys who gave us the depth to win the championship, the ones who don't swim AAU all year long, that's what he gave us too with his good workouts."

The Matadors will definitely finish among the top 10 teams in Santa Rosa, Hoenig predicts, perhaps within the top five.

The strength of their NCS contingent is a freestyle relay team that may battle for first place. Hoenig is part of the unit, along with John Rizzo, Steve Cutting and Ron Johansen.

Hoenig will enter the 200 individual medley and the 500 freestyle against some of the nation's top competition.

In the medley, he'll face San Rafael's Art Morrill, whose 1:53 clocking is nearly the best in the country for high school swimmers. Peter Rocca (2:01) of Campolindo will be another top challenger.

Hoenig's best this season is a 2:03. That will come down markedly Chris says. A haircut and body shave will help him glide through the water, and then there's the matter of "psyching up."

"If you're skilled at psyching yourself up, and psyching the other guy out, you'll do all right," Hoenig says. For two weeks before a meet like this all I do is concentrate on my races. I think about what I'm going to do right down to one tenth of a second."

Hoenig, who owns one EBAL and four school records, will be appearing in his third straight North Coast Championship. He shouldn't be over-awed by the magnitude of the competition, though he points out that swimmers possess hair-trigger temperaments.

"There was a girl on our team at Pleasant Hill Swim Club who could have made the consolations in the AAU championships at Concord last year," he pointed out. "But the day of her race she ran over a cat. It threw off her whole thing and she did really poorly."

DeGara, a veteran coach, will undoubtedly keep his ace swimmer off the road until Sunday. — Mike Zampa

In the farm league, J. Sports Lettering dropped Kentucky Fried Chicken, 10-7. Bryan Shanks saved the game with good relief pitching.

Olsen into Scripture, pitching well in AA

Chapter three in the professional baseball career of Lew Olsen is under way, and the big righthanded pitcher from Alamo likes the way it has opened.

Not that Lew cares for the hot and humid weather of Jacksonville, Fla. where he is based.

But he feels he is playing for one of the best managers, Billy Scripture, he could ever be associated with. Scripture has been a steadying influence on Olsen's development as a winning pitcher ever since the former San Ramon High athlete signed a lucrative bonus contract with the Kansas City Royals.

Olsen, who has worked two ball games for the Class AA Jacksonville Suns of the Southern League, is 1-1 with a 1.35 earned-run-average.

He beat Asheville, N.C., 5-2, allowing just three base hits. Olsen played that game before his parents, James and BarDee Olsen, who drove cross-country to see their son pitch.

Olsen dropped a 3-1 decision to the Birmingham Barons, an Oakland A's farm club, when Jacksonville gave up three unearned runs. Olsen permitted five hits in that one.

"He's in great physical condition and seems pretty satisfied to have moved up another step in his quest to reach the major leagues," said Olsen's mother. "He was of the impression they might move him up to Triple A with Omaha of the American Association when spring training started. But he likes being reunited with Scripture."

"Billy takes the time to make a careful evaluation of a player's mistakes," Olsen says of his manager."

A year ago Olsen posted an 11-8 record for the Class A San Jose Bees of the California League, finishing with a 2.28 ERA.

His first season in pro baseball was spent uneventfully with Billings, Mont. of the Pioneer League. Olsen suffered arm trouble much of the time.

Jack McKeon, manager of the Kansas City team, says Olsen definitely has major league possibilities.

Lew has but one complaint, says his mother. "He misses the California weather."

Jackson suspended

NEW YORK (AP) — Star outfielder Reggie Jackson of the Oakland A's was fined Wednesday by American League President Lee MacPhail and suspended for two days as a result of an argument Jackson had with an umpire Tuesday night.

The suspension is effective immediately, a spokesman for the American League said, and it covers the A's games Wednesday and Thursday nights at Oakland. The league does not announce the amount of the fines,as a matter of policy, but it was said to be "sizeable."

The action by MacPhail came as a result of Jackson's "abusive actions, including bumping" of plate umpire Nick Bremigan in the A's game Tuesday night with the Angels.

Knights now tilt for sports dollar

Taking advantage ofan injury-plagued Lancaster Red Rose team, coach Richard III's York squad rolled to a convincing 66-48 victory as the Tournament of Knights reached its climax Saturday at Daly City's Cow Palace.

In answer to the obvious question, the Tournament of Knights is a wild hybrid of track, horse racing and Big Time wrestling born of the current sports-to-the-saturation-point trend.

The brainchild of English stuntman Nosher Powell, who apparently felt National, American and World leagues in every conceivable sport were not enough, the jousting tour is a recreation of the battle-sports of the middle ages. Teams compete in horseback jousts, foot battles and the 880-yard ring-spearing relay, among other events of olde.

Any doubts as to the legitamacy of the contests were quickly dispelled by Powell. Speaking through a wired jaw (the founder of what he hopes will become a World Team Jousting league suffered a broken jaw and five lost teeth when he apparently attempted to emulate the half-time entertainers by swallowing a sword), Powell revealed that in addition to his own injuries, other "knights" had suffered variously; a broken arm, a broken back and, despite the use of wooden weapons, a badly slashed arm.

"This is only our first stop on a nationwide tour," he mused, "we may run out of knights by the time we hit the East Coast."

While the legitimacy of the battles is uncontested ((except for certain showboat antics, ala wrestling), the necessity must fall under scrutiny.

Does the world really want to see a revival of what passed for sport in the dark ages? While nearly 2,000 showed up for the next-to-last "match" of a six-game series Saturday, how many will return for a second time?

The consensus opinion of the "fans" seemed to be, "it was interesting" — the same comment a man might make to his wife after she had served a particularly bland dish for the first time.

Others were not so tactful, one young couple lamented, "The things we go through for Tommy's birthday."

Aside from the fact that it is hard to envision a whole league of knights — fighting, perhaps, under the colors of the Oakland Saxons or the Los Angeles Huns — a pair of factors hang in the way of the revival's success.

First, the entertainment of ancient times has been brought up to date with in influx of modern customs to make it more palatable to the audience.

Each teams six knights are introduced individually as in basketball and times and point totals are recorded as carefully as at any track meet. Leading scorers are even announced after the contest. The announcement that, "Sir Charles, Kinight Champion of Wales, led York with 18 points," was greeted with a chorus of boos from the Cow Palace fans who, apparently schooled in Shakespeare, gave the White Rose gang a hard time all evening.

The other problem is that while the thought of a Tournament of Knights usually brings to mind endlessly violent, sword-wielding brawls, many of the events are limited to non-combat skill relays.

In addition, shying horses and cautious knights keep the number of de-horsed jousters well under ten each night. A few spectacular "plays" will occur each time, but on the whole those who complain about the slow pace of baseball will also find jousting boring.

With the huge casualty lists, rivaled only by football on the more contemparary scene, it is doubtful anything could be done to make the tilts more exciting without going completely over to the staged atmosphere of pro wrestling.

As entertainment, the Tournament of Knights ranks in the same class with the Ice Follies: it's good once in a while, but maintaining interest over the course of, say, an 18-game home season would be rather difficult.

Still, there is room for one hell of a hot stove league.

"Oh, yeah, well I think Sir Tyrone, Knight Champion of Detroit, could have taken Sir Lancelot any day..."

MANUEL MINGOIA and his three super chefs, Gabby Garbini, Bill McGlinch, and Joe Renteria, kept busy doing a super job at the Annual Barbecue of the Livermore - Pleasanton Rod and Gun Club Sunday. Other club members too numerous to mention volunteered their help and with a fine attendance, the day was a great success.

There was plenty of good food; lots of ham and bacon shoots; a running deer and iron chicken shoot; and just plain old trap shooting for those who wanted the practice. Several trophies were given. Top shooters in the various categories were:

Fun-filled 2nd lifts Foothill

Seventeen walks in the second inning gave Foothill's JV girls softball team enough runs to top Dublin's total for six innings, as the Falcons rolled to a 47-21 triumph yesterday in Pleasanton.

Michelle Thibault added variety with a double in the big inning, and three players later homered to keep the Falcon total soaring out of control.

Local labs make effort to change arcane image

In many cases, it's actually easier done than said.

And nowhere is that more true that in the nether reaches of science, which are frequented by researchers at the Lawrence Livermore Laboratory and Sandia in their pursuit of arcane knowledge.

And although arriving at some of the conclusions and results in quantum mechanics, or nuclear physics, or metal degradation when exposed to high energy neutron beams, is difficult indeed, explaining those results can be even more complex.

To help ease that problem,, the Lab has sent over 400 scientists through a two-day, in-house program purchased from physicist. The program sets down guidelines for speeches and presentations to large groups and has met with enthusiastic support from participants.

David Woods, a specialist in training in the Employe Development Division, said the prngram was started in late 1973 when Perry made a personal appearance at the Lab. Then, the Lab filmed Perry in operation and now the films are used as the basis for the training.

The two-day sessions consist of a day of watching the films and discussing the technique with monitors who have already been through the program, and a day used as a workshop where individuals actually give talks employing the Perry method.

The method is simple — "really common sense" said one participant — and it revolves around removing "extraneous data" and emphasizing positive aspects of the talk. It also recommends the coordination of visual presentations (slides, viewgraph charts, etc) with the oral part of the presentation.

Roger Werne, an engineer, used the technique at a seminar in Hawaii and reported feeling "much more confident" . "It provides constraints" he said, "a set of rules to go by."

Ron Carr, a Deputy Division Leader, will take a group of Perry veterans back to the Hollifield National Laboratory (formerly Oak Ridge) this summer to spread the word further in scientific circles.

Gordon Smith, a chemist who took the workshop, believes it could apply to all walks of life and added "it was fun to take."

However, fun is not the goal. With the amount of knowledge expanding exponentially, communication between scientists becomes more and more important, especially as each tiny branch of science gets more and more involved and technical.

Eventually, the Lab hopes to put over 800 employes through the Perry course, as well as sending out "missionaries" to other scientific organizations throughout the nation.

Although it will always be difficult to make a topic like "Dislocation Mechanics in Plasticity" an eagerly-awaited subject, the Perry technique is at least designed to make it as palatable as possible.

Nuclear power booklet ready

A new booklet answering frequently asked questions about nuclear power is being offered by General Electric's Nuclear Energy Division as a free public service.

The publication, entitled "Nuclear Power; What and Why?", is educational reading in easily understood lay terms on such topics as nuclear power plant operation and safety, radiation, fuel reprocessing, waste handling, environmental effects and economics.

The purpose of the booklet, according to GE, is to deal with public concerns about the use of nuclear power based on erroneous information.

Copies are available by writing Nuclear Power Book, General Electric, Nuclear Energy Division, 175 Curtner Ave., San Jose 95125 or by calling (408)297-7891, ext. 2278.

Kindergarten signups ending

LIVERMORE — Kindergarten registration is winding down this week with signups at Jackson and Portola Avenue Schools.

Registration has already taken place at the district's other elementary schools, but residents may register their tots at any school in the Livermore Unified School District by going to Portola or Jackson and filling out the forms.

Those who can't get to registration this week may call the district to make other arrangements.

At registration time, parents are required to bring along birth or baptismal certificate, verification that the child has had immunization against polio, measles, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus — and the child himself, for a get - acquainted session.

Apperson foes need finances

The attempts of local environment groups to block Bill Apperson's proposed guest ranch have left them in the red, according to a newsletter from the Preserve Area Ridgelands Committee.

PARC, the Sierra Club Bay Chapter and the Regional Parks Association are among the plaintiffs in a suit filed in Alameda County Superior Court to block Apperson's Diamond A Guest Ranch on Apperson Ridge.

In the most recent hearing on the case, Judge Lyle Cook ordered the Sierra Club attorney to produce the entire transcript of the Apperson proceedings before Alameda County agencies. The next court date is this Friday at 1:45 p.m.

The PARC newsletter notes that "$2,500 is needed now for legal expenses" and a wine and cheese tasting party will be held Saturday, May 31, to help PARC, the Sierra Club and RPA raise funds.

The reception will begin at 5:30 p.m. May 31 at 2727 Marin Ave. in Berkeley. Suggested donations are $3 for singles and $5 per couple.

NRC announces new regulation

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission issued a new regulation providing guidance to its licenses for complying with the Commission requirement that releases of radioactivity in gaseous and liquid effluents from light water cooled power reactors be kept "as low as practicable."

This regulation will keep radiation exposure to persons living near nuclear power plants at levels which are small fractions of both natural background radiation levels and existing radiation protection standards, according to a NRC new release.
